ALLIED TROOPS AND WARSHIPS CONTROL CONSTANTINOPLE SITUATION

Wild Rumors Follow Cutting of Communications But Firm Stand of Allies Causes Kemal to Resist Pressure From Angora to Attack.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, Nov. 9.—Eight thousand Allied troops are patrolling Constantinople and Allied warships are steaming slowly up and down before the city with decks cleared for action in event of a Turkish attack, according to advices received today from the Near East.

Cutting of the Near East cable, obstructing official telegrams to the foreign office, has led to a crop of wild rumors. One was that martial law had been proclaimed at Constantinople. Another was that the Turkish Nationalists had backed down. A third was that the Angora Assembly was standing pat upon all demands made to the Allied high commissioners.

Although the extremists at Angora are said to be out of hand and are bringing pressure upon Kemal pasha to compel him to take an anti-Allied stand, it is confidently believed here that the Allies have the Near East military situation perfectly in hand.

Among the demands which the Ankara extremists insist shall be imposed at the Lausanne peace conference, are the following:

- 1.—Indemnity of nearly $1,500,000,000 from Greece.
- 2.—Rectification of the Turkish frontiers.
- 3.—Autonomy of the Grecian islands.
- 4.—A plebiscite in western Thrace.

LEGISLATURE IS DIVIDED

Senate Democratic by Majority of One and Assembly Republican by Majority of 14—Doubt That Smith Program Will Prevail.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, Nov. 9.—With the final election returns showing that the Democrats will have a majority of one in the senate—26 to 25—and the Republicans leading with 14 in the assembly—82 to 68—political observers at the capitol today were divided in opinion as to whether Alfred E. Smith, governor-elect, will be able to put through Democratic measures in the 1923 legislature.

Those who believe that Smith will be able to push through Democratic legislation say there is almost certain to be a few Republicans in the assembly who will vote on measures as they choose, and who will not be bound by strictly party lines. It is pointed out that in past sessions of the legislature there always were several Republicans, so-called "independents," who often broke away from the Republican column and voted with the Democrats.

LEGION AUXILIARY TO SELL DAISIES

Armistice Day! What thrill! We all remember Armistice Day, November 11th, 1918, and with great joy. It was because the war was over. The American Legion Auxiliary is planning to make Armistice Day memorable this year by holding a Tag Day. The sale of the daisy, which is the national flower for the American Legion will take place. Auxiliary members will sell daisies at the different stores, post offices and other prominent places during the day. They ask anything upward of ten cents.

150 FARM BUREAU MEMBERS PAY DUES IN FOUR DAYS

A Kingston Banker's Opinion Of The Farm Bureau.

The directors of the Farm Bureau feel that the success of their permanent membership plan is assured by the fact that slightly over 150 members have sent in their dues within four days after they received their bill and report of the year's work.

These members who have paid their dues are representative men of all the communities in the county and many have accompanied their checks with letters expressing their appreciation of the work of the bureau. Two of these are given below:

Mr. Millard Davis, president, Ulster County Farm and Home Bureau, Kingston, N. Y.
Dear Sir:—

We acknowledge your letter of the 3rd, inst. and we beg to advise you that the National Ulster County Bank will be pleased to take five memberships for the year 1923. On receipt of the bills for the same a remittance will be made.

We believe the Farm and Home Bureau is as useful an organization for the well being of Ulster county as any association we know of.

Yours truly,
F. J. R. CLARKE,
President.

Ulster County Farm Bureau, Kingston, N. Y.
Gentlemen:

Congratulations on a good year's report.

WETS HAVE DOUBLED STRENGTH IN CONGRESS

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Nov. 9.—The importance of the wet gains in Tuesday's elections was emphasized today as belated returns indicated the wets have just about doubled their strength for the next congress.

The so-called "liberal" element in the present congress is about 75 strong, and indications now are that in the next congress there will be at least 150, perhaps 175 members favorable to modification of the Volstead law. Two hundred and eighteen votes constitute a majority.

In only one state where the issue was keen, could the dries claim a clean-cut victory today—in Ohio, where the beer and wine amendment was defeated by about 50,000 votes.

The chief wet victories are found in the election of "liberal" candidates from many states, notably in New York and Pennsylvania.

The wets claim a smashing victory in the following results:

Defeat of Representative Volstead himself in Minnesota. Illinois voted 3 to 1 in favor of light wines and beer. Massachusetts voted down more rigorous enforcement by more than 100,000.

New Jersey elected a "wet" senator in Governor Edwards and an avowed wet governor and state administration.

California voted down more rigorous enforcement measures by 50,000. Maryland re-elected Representative John Philip Hill, Republican, the present wet leader of the house, from a normally Democratic district and also contributed a wet senator, in William Cabell Bruce.

New York elected an entire Democratic state ticket, whose platform contained a plank in favor of light wines and beer.

WETS AHEAD IN ILLINOIS

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—With 4,045 precincts out of 5,890 in the state reporting, 777,609 persons in Illinois had voted today in favor of light wines and beer and 305,892 against.

ONE-MAN TROLLEY CAR ACCIDENTS

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, Nov. 9.—One man was killed and three persons seriously injured in one-man trolley car accidents here early today.

Thomas Nash, operator of the one-man car, was held by the coroner on a charge of manslaughter, second degree, for running down and killing Thomas F. Mac Hale, 60.

A few hours earlier another one-man car ran wild on a hill, crashing into another car. Two women and a man were seriously hurt.

Cottrell J. O. U. A. M.

Cottrell, Nov. 9.—Cottrell Council, No. 168 Jr. O. U. American Mechanics will hold a special meeting on Saturday evening, November 11, 1922 at which time degrees will be conferred on candidates. Arrangements will also be made for a pilgrimage to Charles DeWitt Council at Kingston, N. Y., on Friday evening, November 17th. A full attendance is requested as other important matters are to be decided at this time. Refreshments will be served.

Democratic Governor in Kansas.

Topeka, Kas., Nov. 9.—Election of Jonathan Davis, Democratic candidate for governor was conceded today by Wilbur Hawk, Republican state chairman. Latest returns give Davis a lead of 21,000 votes.

Dance at Polish Hall.

A dance will be held tonight at the Polish school hall for the benefit of the White Eagle Club. Music by Balfe's orchestra. Refreshments will be served.

Buy Engine.

Samuel E. Myer, of West Saugerties, has recently purchased of the Canfield Supply Company a Hercules gasoline engine, mounted on steel truck.

Buy Franklin Street Property.

Joseph Yerry and wife have sold to Joseph Bongartz a modern residence on the southerly side of Franklin street, near Oak street.

DRYS AHEAD IN OHIO VOTE

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 9.—Ohio voters overwhelmingly defeated the proposal to legalize beer of 2.75 per cent alcoholic content, returns compiled late today conclusively show. With about six hundred of the state's 1,167 precincts missing, the vote stood: For beer 655,128. Against beer 790,243.

REPUBLICANS HAVE 18 MAJORITY

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Nov. 9.—With fourteen districts missing, William Tyler Page, clerk of the house, estimated today on the basis of returns received up to 11 o'clock that 221 Republicans and 205 Democrats have been elected to serve in the house in the 68th Congress. He predicted that the Republican majority in the new house would be at least eighteen and probably twenty compared with 167 at present.

ASK QUICK HEARING OF "DRY SHIP" APPEAL.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Nov. 9.—Ten foreign steamship lines today filed petitions with the United States supreme court asking the court to take prompt action on their appeals to test the validity of Attorney General Daugherty's ruling barring liquor from the American three-mile limit. Briefs were filed by George W. Wickens, attorney for the Cunard and Anchor Lines. Expedient action on these cases has already been promised by the attorney general.

Y. M. C. A. Auxiliary Meeting.

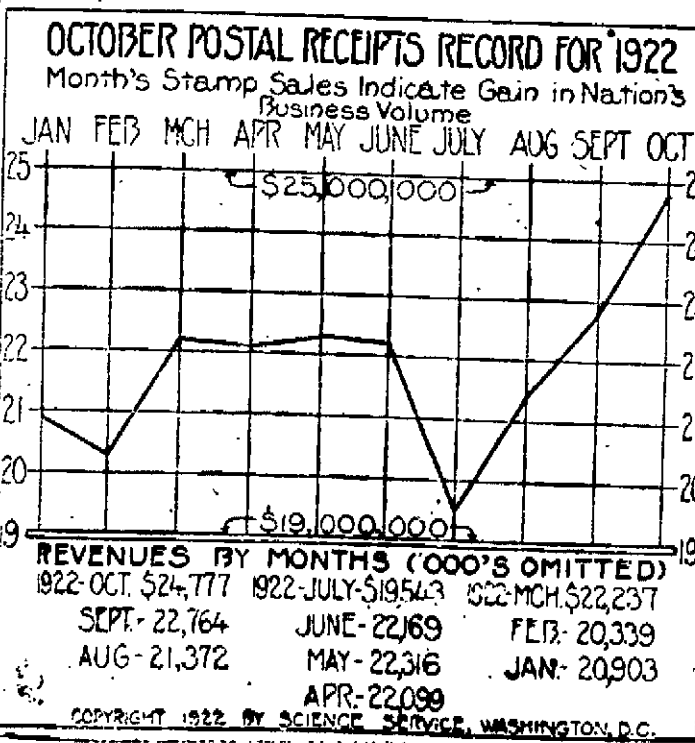

The Women's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. will hold its November meeting at the Association Building on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. After the business session, a delegation from the Poughkeepsie Auxiliary of the Boys' Department will be present and their president, Mrs. Simon, will tell of their work. This part of the program will be followed by vocal selections by Miss Linkletter of the Elmendorf Street Presbyterian Church choir, and the serving of afternoon tea.

More Victory Ball Patrons.

Additional patrons to the American Legion ball to be held at the armory on Friday evening, are: Joseph McNelis & Co., Dr. Frank A. Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Rodie and Mrs. Charlotte Sahler.

BUSINESS DAY 69 DAY as the Government sees it

PREPARED BY RALPH F. COUCH

DEMOCRATS SEEK NATIONAL LEADER

With Underwood Declining, Robinson or Harrison Is Likely to Head New and Powerful Minority in Congress.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Nov. 9.—Flushed with the heady wine of victory, greater than they had dared anticipate, Democratic senators and congressmen began drifting back to the national capitol politically hopeful for the first time since the great avalanche of 1920 all but wrecked their party.

Above the tumult and the shouting over Tuesday's widespread victories, was heard on every side today in Democratic quarters:

"Now for a Moses to lead us out of the wilderness!"

From a badly disorganized and indifferent minority in both branches of the 67th Congress, the Democrats awoke today to find themselves politically powerful once more, and perilously close to being on even terms with the Republican in both senate and house of the 68th Congress.

The Republicans have retained theoretical control of both branches of Congress but the majorities are so slender that they dare not be leaned upon too heavily for fear they will crack under the strain.

In the Republican majority of perhaps seven in the senate are such insurgents as Borah of Idaho, La Follette of Wisconsin, Norris and Howell of Nebraska, Johnson of California, North Dakota—men upon whom the iron hand of party discipline rests lightly if at all. The same is true, in large measure, of the Republican majority in the House.

In the 68th Congress the Democrats will be in a position to throw bricks into the Republican machinery almost whenever it pleases them—if they can get together, perfect an organization and above all, find a leader.

The Democrats are now flushed with victory and leaderless. Two of the most prominent Democrats in the senate, Pomeroy of Ohio and Hitchcock of Nebraska, went down to defeat on Tuesday, and on top of that Senator Oscar Underwood of Alabama has renounced his titular leadership of the minority in the present senate.

Underwood has tried to chuck the job before, but so disorganized and actionless embittered have the Democrats been that they could agree on no one to take his place. The wounds of 1920 and the League of Nations would not heal at a touch.

"Now we've got to organize," said a Democratic senator today and he voiced the feelings of his colleagues.

The job of finding a Messiah will be undertaken within the next two weeks, with the assembly here in special session of the dying 67th Congress on November 20. "It is not improbable that either Senator Joe Robinson of Arkansas, or Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, will be selected to serve the 67th Congress out as leader until plans can be laid for the 68th and 1924."

Robinson is a two-fisted, rough and ready debater. He was permanent chairman of the San Francisco convention on his exhibition of riding that fraction. Moreover, he is now aligned with any of the numerous bitter factions in the party—the Wilson faction, the McAdoo faction, the Cox faction or the Bryan faction.

Many far-seeing Democrats were looking ahead of the 68th Congress today and gazing at 1924 and the White House. They believe if the gains won on Tuesday are properly consolidated, and they can hang together for two years, they have a chance to regain the White House in 1924 such as they never had in 1920. The task of finding a leader consequently becomes all the more important in Democratic eyes.

Somewhere in the United States in the next two years, Democratic leaders agreed today, a Democratic Moses must be found to lead the assault of 1924. It was the same situation in 1910-11, they pointed out that brought Woodrow Wilson to the fore. The more far-sighted Democrats are already scanning the horizon for the man.

The Democratic victories on Tuesday have not elevated any faction within the party to a position of power. Senator "Jim" Reed, the bitter foe of Woodrow Wilson and his works, was re-elected alongside of Senator King in Utah and Pitman in Nevada, two league of nations advocates.

In the fact that no faction is in the ascendancy, Democratic harmony ministers found their greatest satisfaction today. With no faction in control and the common necessity of getting together staring them in the face, it will be easier, according to Democratic spokesmen here, for the party to submerge its factional differences, get together and present a united front for the battle that even now is getting under way for 1924.

Our Growing Population.

The following births have been reported to the health board:

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ostrander, at the Kingston City Hospital, a daughter, Janet M.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Hurdman of the town of Ulster at Kingston City Hospital, a son, John Edward.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor D. Legay of 60 Cedar street at Kingston City Hospital, a son, Allen W.

C. OF C. WILL DISCUSS SURVEY

Directors Meet Friday to Receive Financial Report of Recent Exposition and to Discuss Question of Having Industrial Survey of City Made.

The Chamber of Commerce directors will meet Friday evening at the Chamber of Commerce rooms to receive the financial reports of the Kingston Exposition, and to consider the question of whether the Chamber should raise the additional amount necessary to have an industrial and civic survey made of the city.

Under the original plan it was thought that the exposition would pay not only for itself but that the additional amount needed for the survey would also be raised. Owing to the fact that the exhibition covered twice the amount of space as the one in Rome, N. Y., it also increased the expenses for tents, wiring, lighting and decorations. The show itself did not produce enough profit to have the survey made also.

The question to be considered Friday night is whether the idea of the survey be abandoned and the exposition itself show a profit or that the additional amount needed for the survey be raised.

All members of the Chamber of Commerce who have any ideas on the subject are invited to be present that evening and express their opinion.

DR. WASHBURN AGAIN LECTURES

One thing is certain, the group of forty or fifty women making up the Monday and Atharacton Clubs will have a vastly better knowledge of themselves in an exceedingly wholesome way when Dr. Washburn of Vassar College completes her course of lectures on Psychology which she is giving before the two clubs. Wednesday the clubs met at the home of Mrs. George Burkevich on Johnston avenue. Quite aside from the psychological information gained from Dr. Washburn, it is truly inspiring to listen to her talks which are marked by such a perfect command of plain, good, understandable English.

On Wednesday, Dr. Washburn spoke on "The Response of the Living Organism—particularly the human organism—to Stimulus." This lecture, like the foregoing, carefully described the physical mechanism that underlies and provides the means for psychological conditions and reactions. Wednesday the autonomic nervous system in its three parts, the cranial, the sympathetic and the sacral, was considered. The interdependence of both nervous systems in the body, (the cerebro-spinal and the autonomic); the protection which is afforded the human body by the sympathetic nervous system, also its powerful excitability under certain conditions was explained, also the balancing power of the cranial branch of the autonomic nerve system, making for a normal condition of living. Fatigue was considered at some length in connection with the afternoon's subject, and it was indeed reassuring to learn that in spite of our apprehensions, fears and ignorant surmises, the one part of these human machines of ours that is practically the last to wear out and break down is the general nervous system. As the result of certain reactions to stimuli, it was learned, that on the whole, the things that give us pleasure and that we want more of are the things which within reasonable limitations are good for us. Naturally we do not enjoy things that are too intense, thus protecting ourselves; too much heat, too much light; too loud noise; too much sweetness are disagreeable, while in moderation they are all pleasant and good for us.

Next Wednesday afternoon the clubs will meet with Mrs. Philip Elting at her home on Maiden Lane, when Dr. Washburn will continue her talk on "Reaction to Important Stimuli." The lecture beginning promptly at 4 o'clock.

At Wednesday's meeting the matter of the clubs making layettes for the Red Cross Smyrna Relief was brought up and was given a cordial and welcoming response, the club women signifying their willingness to do their share of the work.

PORT EWEN MAN STRUCK BY AN AUTO WEDNESDAY

Robert Tinkle of Port Ewen sustained a broken collar bone and other injuries late Wednesday afternoon when struck by an automobile in that village. Mr. Tinkle is slightly hard of hearing and it is thought that he did not hear the approaching car. Dr. G. W. Ross attended him and found that his injuries were not serious.

general question of "What will happen in the various state departments when the Democrats take office on January 1?" is all that one hears around the state capitol now. And the chances are that the landslide for Smith and the rest of the Democratic state ticket will be the chief topic of conversation around the state house for some time to come.

Some of the Republican officials holding quite important jobs are saying they got the surprise of their lives in Tuesday's election, while others are saying:

"I had a hunch that it was coming, but I kept my mouth shut."

Many of the men and women, Republicans, now holding good jobs in the state service, subscribe to the old saying of "To the victor belong the spoils," and they readily admit that it is no more than fair that Democrats should have the jobs now held by Republicans.

Of course there are quite a few Republicans holding good jobs who are still smiling, because they are under civil service, and they say the only way they can be separated from their positions is through charges.

There seems to be a general feeling around the capitol that one of the first things the Democrats will do after they take office will be to restore the automobile license bureau to the office of secretary of state. When this bureau was transferred to the state tax department by Governor Miller, the present secretary of state, John J. Lyons, of New York city, offered strong objection on the ground that the transfer of the automobile bureau to the tax department virtually stripped the secretary of state's office of all its political patronage.

There is no question, according to many officials at the capitol that Governor Miller's board of estimate and control, his state purchasing board and his budget system along with many other minor projects, will quickly be discarded by the Democrats.

There is certain to be a far-reaching reorganization of the state industrial board and the labor department as well as the tax departments. Hundreds of men and women are employed in these departments, and only a small number come under the civil service. Already there is talk here that Governor-elect Smith, in all probability, will reappoint Col. Frederick Stuart Greene as state highway commissioner, Greene was highway chief under Smith two years ago, but was succeeded by Herbert S. Sisson under Gov. Miller. Ever since Greene resigned, Democrats have boasted that he was the best highway commissioner that the state ever had.

If it is possible, it seems to be pretty well conceded now, that among other things that Governor Smith will see to it once after he is inaugurated is how the state motion picture censorship commission can be abolished most quickly.

COMFORT KITS FOR SOLDIERS

For several years Comfort Kits have been sent as a Christmas greeting to our soldiers serving at Santo Domingo and Haiti. These kits were drawn from surplus stock in Washington, D. C., which is now exhausted; the importance of sending this greeting seems as great this year as ever, and an appeal has been made to the various chapters to provide them. The Ulster County Chapter of the American Red Cross has been asked to furnish ten kits, the contents are given below; they may be wrapped in a large bandana handkerchief, and will be received at the office of the Red Cross at 44 Main street and forwarded from there. These kits must be sent not later than December 1st.

Contents: Towel, wash cloth, soap (in holder if possible), comb, toothbrush, (no paste), pencil, two handkerchiefs, pair of shoe strings, household containing needles, thread, buttons, safety pins, etc.

RED CROSS OFFICE,
44 Main street, City.

NO FORMALITY AT LEGION'S BALL

At the American Legion ball to be held at the armory tomorrow evening there will be a unique feature to the decorations. For the first time our city flag will be displayed, as the place of resistance of the decorative scheme.

The question of dress has been put up to several of the Legion members. Is the ball to be a full dress affair or may guests come in daytime dress. All guests of the Legion will be given a cordial welcome however dressed to their own comfort whether they wear evening dress or daytime apparel and both will be in evidence. It is needless to add that while dress does not make the man, to appear at one's very best, in apparel as well as spirit and demeanor is what every one will want to do as honoring our branch of the American Legion.

This part of the program will be followed by vocal selections by Miss Linkletter of the Elmendorf Street Presbyterian Church choir, and the serving of afternoon tea.

DEMOCRATS SEEK NATIONAL LEADER

With Underwood Declining, Robinson or Harrison Is Likely to Head New and Powerful Minority in Congress.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Nov. 9.—Flushed with the heady wine of victory, greater than they had dared anticipate, Democratic senators and congressmen began adrift back to the national capitol politically hopeful for the first time since the great avalanche of 1920 all but wrecked their party.

About the tumult and the shouting over Tuesday's widespread victories was heard on every side today in Democratic quarters:

"Now for a Moses to lead us out of the wilderness!"

From a badly disorganized and in-different minority in both branches of the 68th Congress, the Democrats awoke today to find themselves politically powerful once more, and perilously close to being on even terms with the Republican in both senate and house of the 68th Congress.

The Republicans have retained theoretical control of both branches of Congress but the majorities are so slender that they dare not be leaned upon too heavily for fear they will crack under the strain.

In the Republican majority of perhaps seven in the senate are such insurgents as Borah of Idaho, La Follette of Wisconsin, Norris and Howell of Nebraska, Johnson of California, Norbeck of South Dakota, Ladd of North Dakota—men upon whom the iron hand of party discipline rests lightly if at all. The same is true, in large measure, of the Republican majority in the House.

In the 68th Congress the Democrats will be in a position to throw back into the Republican machinery almost whenever it pleases them—they can get together, perfect an organization and above all, find a leader.

The Democrats are now flushed with victory—and leaderless. Two of the most prominent Democrats in the senate, Fomerne of Ohio and Hitchcock of Nebraska, went down to defeat on Tuesday, and on top of that Senator Oscar Underwood of Alabama has renounced his titular leadership of the minority in the present senate.

Underwood has tried to chuck the job before, but so disorganized and factionally embittered have the Democrats been that they could agree on no one to take his place. The wounds of 1920 and the League of Nations would not heal at a touch.

"Now we've got to organize," said a Democratic senator today and he voiced the feelings of his colleagues.

The job of finding a Messiah will be undertaken within the next two weeks, with the assembly here in special session on the 16th of November.

It is not improbable that either Senator Joe Robinson of Arkansas, or Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, will be selected to serve in the 67th Congress out as leader until plans can be laid for the 68th and 1924.

Robinson is a two-fisted, rough and ready debater. He was permanent chairman of the San Francisco convention and his exhibition of riding that fractious horse, gave general satisfaction. Moreover, he is now aligned with any of then numerous bitter factions in the party—the Wilson faction, the McAdoo faction, the Cox faction or the Bryan faction.

Many far-seeing Democrats were looking ahead of the 68th Congress today and gazing at 1924 and the White House. They believe if the gains won on Tuesday are properly consolidated, and they can hang together for two years, they have a chance to regain the White House in 1924 such as they never had in 1920. The task of finding a leader consequently becomes all the more important in Democratic eyes.

Somewhere in the United States in the next two years, Democratic leaders agreed today, a Democratic Moses must be found to lead the assault of 1924. It was the same situation in 1910-11, they pointed out that brought Woodrow Wilson to the fore. The more far-sighted Democrats are already scanning the horizon for the man.

The Democratic victories on Tuesday have not elevated any faction within the party to a position of power. Senator "Jim" Reed, the bitter foe of Woodrow Wilson and his works, was re-elected alongside of Senator King in Utah and Pitman in Nevada, two league of nations advocates.

In the fact that no faction is in the ascendancy, Democratic harmony ministers found their greatest satisfaction today. With no faction in control and the common necessity of getting together staring them in the face, it will be easier, according to Democratic spokesmen here, for the party to submerge its factional differences, get together and present a united front for the battle that even now is getting under way for 1924.

DR. WASHBURN AGAIN LECTURES

One thing is certain, the group of forty or fifty women making up the Monday and Atharhacton Clubs will have a vastly better knowledge of themselves in an exceedingly wholesome way when Dr. Washburn of Vassar College completes her course of lectures on Psychology which she is giving before the two clubs.

Wednesday the clubs met at the home of Mrs. George Durgevin on Johnston avenue. Quite aside from the psychological information gained from Dr. Washburn, it is truly inspiring to listen to her talks which are marked by such a perfect command of plain, good, understandable English.

On Wednesday, Dr. Washburn spoke on "The Response of the Living Organism—Particularly the Human Organism—to Stimuli." This lecture, like the foregoing, carefully described the physical mechanism that underlies and provides the means for psychological conditions and reactions. Wednesday the autonomic nervous system in its three parts, the cranial, the sympathetic and the sacral, was considered. The interdependence of both nervous systems in the body, (the cerebro-spinal and the autonomic); the protection which is afforded the human body by the sympathetic nervous system, also its powerful excitability under certain conditions was explained, also the balancing power of the cranial branch of the autonomic nerve system, making for a normal condition of living. Fatigue was considered at some length in connection with the afternoon's subject, and it was indeed reassuring to learn that in spite of our apprehensions, fears and ignorant surmises, the one part of these human machines of ours that is practically the last to wear out and break down is the general nervous system. As the result of certain reactions to stimuli, it was learned, that on the whole, the things that give us pleasure and that we want more of are the things which within reasonable limitations are good for us. Naturally we do not enjoy things that are too intense, thus protecting ourselves; too much heat, too much light; too loud noise; too much sweetness are disagreeable, while in moderation they are all pleasant and good for us.

Next Wednesday afternoon the clubs will meet with Mrs. Philip Elting at her home on Maiden Lane, when Dr. Washburn will continue her talk on "Reaction to Important Stimuli," the lecture beginning promptly at 4 o'clock.

At Wednesday's meeting the matter of the clubs making layettes for the Red Cross Smyrna Relief was brought up and was given a cordial and welcoming response, the club women signifying their willingness to do their share of the work.

C. OF C. WILL DISCUSS SURVEY

Directors Meet Friday to Receive Financial Report of Recent Exposition and to Discuss Question of Having Industrial Survey of City Made.

The Chamber of Commerce directors will meet Friday evening at the Chamber of Commerce rooms to receive the financial reports of the Kingston Exposition, and to consider the question of whether the Chamber should raise the additional amount necessary to have an industrial and civic survey made of the city.

Under the original plan it was thought that the exposition would pay not only for itself but that the additional amount needed for the survey would also be raised. Owing to the fact that the exhibition covered twice the amount of space as the one in Rome, N. Y., it also increased the expenses for tents, wiring, lighting and decorations. The show itself did not produce enough profit to have the survey made also.

The question to be considered Friday night is whether the idea of the survey be abandoned and the exposition itself show a profit or that the additional amount needed for the survey be raised.

All members of the Chamber of Commerce who have any ideas on the subject are invited to be present that evening and express their opinion.

C. OF C. WILL DISCUSS SURVEY

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, Nov. 9.—Politics and the general question of "What will happen in the various state departments when the Democrats take office on January 1?" is all that one hears around the state capitol now. And the chances are that the landslide for Smith and the rest of the Democratic state ticket will be the chief topic of conversation around the state house for some time to come.

Some of the Republican officials holding quite important jobs are saying they got the surprise of their lives in Tuesday's election, while others are saying:

"I had a hunch that it was coming, but I kept my mouth shut."

Many of the men and women, Republicans, now holding good jobs in the state service, subscribe to the old saying of "To the victor belong the spoils," and they readily admit that there is no more than fair that Democrats should have the jobs now held by Republicans.

Of course there are quite a few Republicans holding good jobs who are still smiling, because they are under civil service, and they say the only way they can be separated from their positions is through charges.

There seems to be a general feeling around the capitol that one of the first things the Democrats will do after they take office will be to restore the automobile license bureau to the office of secretary of state. When this bureau was transferred to the state tax department by Governor Miller, the present secretary of state, John J. Lyons, of New York city, offered strong objection on the ground that the transfer of the automobile bureau to the tax department virtually stripped the secretary of state's office of all its political patronage.

There is no question, according to many officials at the capitol, that Governor Miller's board of estimate and control, his state purchasing board and his budget system along with many other minor projects, will quickly be discarded by the Democrats.

There is certainly to be a far-reaching reorganization of the state industrial board and the labor department as well as the tax departments. Hundreds of men and women are employed in these departments, and only a small number come under the civil service. Already there is talk here that Governor-elect Smith, in all probability, will re-appoint Col. Frederick Stuart Greene as state highway commissioner. Greene was highway chief under Smith two years ago, but was succeeded by Herbert S. Sisson under Gov. Miller. Ever since Greene resigned, Democrats have boasted that he was the best highway commissioner that the state ever had.

If it is possible, it seems to be pretty well conceded now, that among other things that Governor Smith will see to it once after he is inaugurated is how the state motion picture censorship commission can be abolished most quickly.

COMFORT KITS FOR SOLDIERS

For several years Comfort Kits have been sent as a Christmas greeting to our soldiers serving at Santo Domingo and Haiti. Those kits were drawn from surplus stock in Washington, D. C., which is now exhausted; the importance of sending this greeting seems as great this year as ever, and an appeal has been made to the various chapters to provide them. The Ulster County Chapter of the American Red Cross has been asked to furnish ten kits, the contents are given below; they may be wrapped in a large burlap handkerchief, and will be received at the office of the Red Cross at 44 Main street and forwarded from there. These kits must be sent, not later than December 1st.

Contents: Towel, wash cloth, soap (in holder if possible), comb, toothbrush, (no paste), pencil, two handkerchiefs, pair of shoe strings, housewife containing needles, thread, buttons, safety pins, etc.

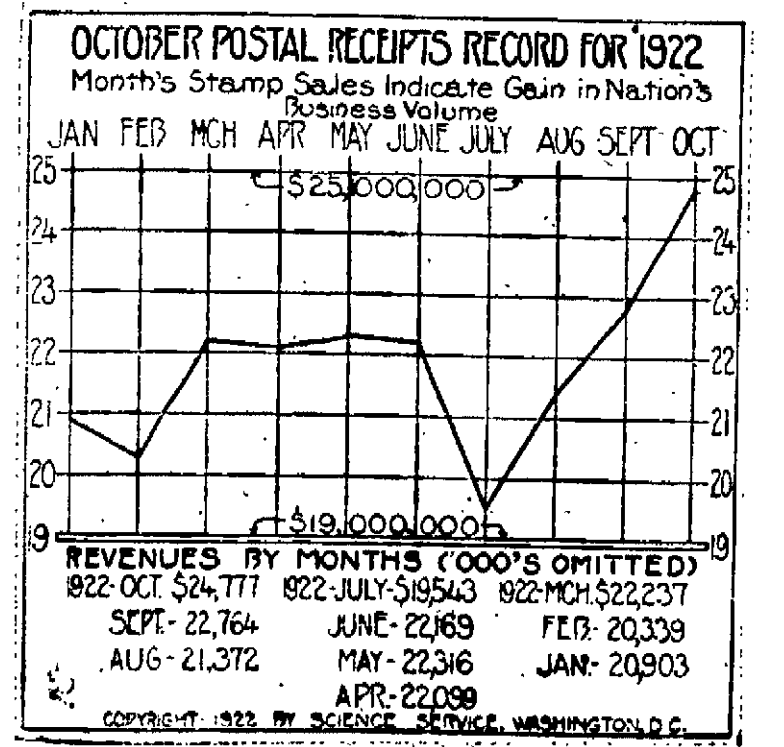

RED CROSS OFFICE,
44 Main street, City.

NO FORMALITY AT LEGION'S BALL

At the American Legion ball to be held at the armory tomorrow evening there will be a unique feature to the decorations. For the first time our city flag will be displayed, as the piece de resistance of the decorative scheme.

The question of dress has been put up to several of the Legion members. Is the ball to be a full dress affair or may guests come in daytime dress. All guests of the Legion will be given a cordial welcome however dressed to their own comfort whether they wear evening dress or daytime apparel and both will be in evidence. It is needless to add that while dress does not make the man, to appear at one's very best, in apparel as well as spirit and demeanor is what every one will want to do as honoring our branch of the American Legion.

STOCK CO. AND "THE BAT" COMING

Saturday night "The Bat," one of the greatest of modern dramatic successes, comes to the Kingston Opera House.

Mary Roberts Rinehart and Avery Hopwood collaborated in the writing of this mystery play which has made a fortune for all concerned in its production. The company is under the management of Wagenhals & Kemper and Colin Kemper directs. No play of our times has been more extensively advertised not only by ingenious publicity, but by "loving friends" who have seen the show and pass the word along.

There are six "Bat" companies in the states at the present time, one company in London and one in Australia. The company that is in Pittsburgh has been touring the East. It was in Northampton Thursday night and will go from here to Schenectady and points west. Melodrama alternates with comedy and the thrills are constant. The audience is kept on edge all the while.

The Charles K. Champlin stock company will appear at the Kingston Opera House all next week. Included in the list of plays to be given during the engagement are "East is West," "Experience," "The Man Who Made Good," "When a Woman Loves," "The Storm," and "Friday the 13th." The opening play will be "East is West."

NIGHT REDUCE ACCIDENTS.

Flint, Mich., Marks Scenes of Traffic Accidents.

Editor, The Freeman:

In looking over a paper published by one of the leading insurance companies recently, I read an article stating that every spot on the streets of Flint, Michigan, where a traffic accident had occurred it had been marked by the police with white circles on the pavement. This article stated that where an accident had resulted fatally the spot was marked with a circle within which was a cross. If the accident had not been of a fatal nature there was merely a circle.

Some places in the city of Kingston, if they were so marked, might have a tendency to reduce the number of accidents occurring at these spots. I have in mind while writing this the intersection of Broadway and Foxhall avenue in particular, and also Clinton avenue and Pearl street.

A. N. COOK.

BLUE MOUNTAIN.

Blue Mountain, Nov. 8.—Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Reinhardt have returned home after spending the past two weeks in New York and Jersey City.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Myer have returned home, after spending a few days with their son, Henry and family at Haines Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Burton and daughter of West Saugerties, spent Sunday with West parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hommel.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hommel of Saugerties, spent Sunday with her parents in this place.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Wynne spent Monday evening with Walter Falk and family.

Mrs. Frank Myer of Barclay Heights, Saugerties, was a week-end visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Wolven.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Houtman of Brooklyn, are spending some time with his mother at Shady Nook Farm.

Mr. and Mrs. John Russell and children of Lake Katrine, spent Sunday with Russell Hill and wife.

John Snyder of Haines Falls, spent Tuesday with Melvin Schoonmaker and wife.

The New Romance of Borneo.

This will be the subject of the illustrated missionary address at the prayer meeting in the St. James Church on Thursday evening. "The Wild Man of Borneo," famous as a head-hunter, will be shown as he is affected by the Gospel. Some beautiful slides of child-life in pagan lands will also be shown. The meeting of the official board will follow the prayer meeting.

CURRENT OFFERINGS AT THE THEATERS.

"Turn to the Right" at Keeney's Theatre, Friday and Saturday.

"Turn to the Right," one of the most popular comedy dramas of the stage, whose appeal was testified to by millions of theater goers, has been transferred to the screen and will be seen at the Keeney Theater tonight, Friday and Saturday. It tells the story of a country boy who, while serving a prison term unjustly, becomes acquainted with two crooks. Returning home he finds the mortgage about to be foreclosed by the village, skidder. With the aid of his two crook pals a way is found to beat out the miser while the influence of the aged mother leads the two crooks, into love and a better life. It is presented by a notable cast headed by Alice Terry.

Harry Carey in the thrilling western drama, "Man to Man," is showing at the Kingston Opera House tonight, critics claiming that the gigantic stampede scene is the most exciting and remarkable thrill ever attempted in motion pictures.

Viola Dana in "The Fourteenth Lover," is the attraction at the Auditorium tonight, also Ruth Roland in the exciting chapter play, "The Timber Queen."

Today and tomorrow the Orpheum Theater management four acts of vaudeville and the latest Paramount picture, Wallace Reid in "Nice People," a William de Mille production. A complete change of vaudeville tomorrow and Saturday.

IN WINTER WRAPS

New Material Is Soft, Woolly; Covered With Designs.

All-Over Patterns Are Worked by Hand; Less Expensive Cloth Machine-Stitched.

One of the newest materials for winter coats and wraps is soft and woolly and covered all over with fantastic designs worked in raised silk. At first sight this cloth recalls the popular matelasse of last year, but in reality it is quite another thing, asserts a fashion writer in the Boston Globe. The all-over pattern is worked by hand in the best circumstances, but less expensive cloth of the same order is machine-stitched.

A lovely little wrap made of this new stuff is bordered with loutre. This is one of the ultra-short models which have suddenly leaped into favor. First we had hip coatees and then picturesque wraps which finish off suddenly at the waist, as indicated in my drawing.

The sleeves of this model are so wide that from the back they give a cape effect. This is essentially a youthful garment—just the thing for a pretty girl to throw over her smart dance-tea frock. It is warm, becoming and comparatively easily made. On the other hand it must be confessed that a waist-length wrap is apt to make its owner look a wee bit clumsy unless she, happily, happens to be exceptionally tall and slender.

The same embroidered cloth is carried out in two colors—bright blue silks on a beige ground, or dark blue silks on gray. But the best results are obtained by a skillful combination of neutral tints, light and dark beige, gray or putty.

Without doubt hip-coatees and wraps will remain in favor all the winter, and in this connection the sack models are most successful. Shaved lamb is used for these little garments. The skins are beautifully prepared and dyed some really wonderful tints being obtained. Since the fancy of the moment is for colored furs shaved lamb comes in for considerable attention.

It is particularly successful in a clear shade of pinkish beige, combined with beige fox and lined with Chinese blue taffeta.

Monkey-fur fringe has taken a fresh lease of life; it is used by our best tailors and dressmakers—on day and evening dresses alike.

EIGHT INCHES FROM GROUND

Skirt Length Receives Official Approval; Comfortably Wide but Not Flaring

For street apparel skirts are to be comfortably wide, but not flaring, about a yard and a half being the approved width according to a fashion writer. Eight inches from the ground has the official approval with six inches for afternoon frocks, and evening frocks sweeping the floor or at least touching it.

These rules, slightly elastic, are meant for mature women. Perhaps the younger women will wear skirts a trifle shorter, but not to the knees as during the last season or two.

Caracul and Mole. Caracul and mole are two pelts that have been selected for the embellishment of fall coats. Panels and kindred emplacements are developed wholly in these fatterest of the pelts. One example showed a checker-board effect worked in cloth and black caracul.

Coats Are Fancy. The fancy coat worn with a plain skirt is being taken up by a few smart dressers. It is usually of the same material as the skirts, but all-over embroidered.

Bandanna Hat. Many turbans are being made of silk printed in the pattern of the old bandanna handkerchief. Sometimes the ends of the silk are knotted after the old plantation style.

Wanted to Know. "Mamma, what's in the package?" "While at the butcher's, dear, I got some lights for the cat." "Mamma, if I ate lights could I see in the dark like Kitty?"—Boston Transcript.

FOR THE COOL AUTUMN DAYS

When the autumn leaves are falling and the days grow cool and dreary this charming fashion will be welcomed. It is a coat of red Bolivia with black fox.

FURS MATCH WINTER OUTFIT

Peltry Promises to Be More Fashionable This Season; Cheaper Materials in Demand.

Furs bid fair to be more fashionable than ever this winter and it is not necessarily the costly pelt that will claim Dame Fashion's favor, according to a fashion authority in the New York Tribune. Even the humblest of animals, not excepting the alley cats, have been called upon to give up their hides to satisfy the demand.

Owing to the use of cheap furs, there are many dyed effects. One of the chic things will be to use a fur that exactly matches in color the fabric of the garment which it adorns; thus cat, rabbit, hare and squirrel furs are being dyed in beige, gray and brown tones to match materials. Caracul, one of the more expensive furs, is also being dyed in these fabric tones.

In addition to these smart, so-called inexpensive furs, which are frankly what they are, there are many imitations of mink, chinchilla seal and beaver. There are the Japanese mink, Columbian mink and marmot, all of which approach real mink in appearance. There are kolinsky and the blended marten, which imitate sable. There are chinchilla rat, wisatch, the hybrid animal from Bolivia, the Australian opossum and the petit gris, all trying to counterfeit the costly and rare chinchilla of the Andes.

Then there is always the Hudson seal, which now is more popular than the real Alaskan and practically as expensive, with its train of counterfeits—electric seal, dyed rabbit and pussy cats. Beaver and nutria will both be greatly in vogue. In white furs there are many imitations of royal ermine.

ECONOMIZE BY MAKING HATS

Two Millinery Schools Organized in Missouri County Teach Women to Make Headgear.

In Calloway county, Missouri, farm women, with help of an extension agent, organized two millinery training schools. Four communities were represented at each of these training schools, which lasted three days. Each community had two representatives. There were as many as 50 women at times at the classes, a total of 100 attending during the six days.

As a result of these training schools 124 new hats were made and 123 old hats were remodeled. If these hats were worth, on an average, no more than $2.50 each, although many of them were much better than what could be bought for that, the total value of the hats made was more than $600. In addition, each woman had the satisfaction of learning how she could adapt her old materials how to choose a becoming shape, and in many cases, fit a head size that was difficult to suit in a ready-made hat.

The Harem Hat.

Though autumn is here there is no waning today of a style which came into being originally as a result of warm weather—the harem hat. This is the mushroom hat of wide brim from which droops a six-inch double fold of chiffon extending almost to the tip of the nose. Such a hat was seen recently faced and covered with pink mauve chiffon and gave a delightfully rosy tint to the upper half of the face.

Autumn Hats.

Autumn clothes have made their appearance and among the new things are rattling little hats of rows of velvet ribbon stitched together. The colors are particularly good and the hats stand any amount of crushing and packing.

Flame Velvet.

Flame velvet makes a charming evening gown with a girdle of the twisted material and a shower of bows, also of the material.

Doubtful Future.

"So your boy has graduated from college?" "Yes." "What is he going to do now?" "I don't know. He didn't pitch well enough to make the major league and there's no money playing professional football."

ULSTER NOT HYSTERICAL.

Election results need little comment or explanation. This is not the first time a tidal wave has been followed by an ebb of corresponding degree, nor is it the last time that this will occur. So long as the majority of voters are swayed by notions and prejudices, wanting things until they get them and then wanting something else, this ebb and flow, without real reason, will continue. Governor Miller stated the case as clearly as anyone can in his telegram to "Al" Smith: "Having tried both our brands of government, the people have chosen yours." It is some consolation to know that Ulster is one county in which a larger than average part of the voters give some real thought to matters of government, as is shown by the vote here on Tuesday.

HISTORY AND POLITICS.

Some time since a gale of laughter swept over the country when it was reported that "Jerry" Watson, a Boston politician, had condemned Webster's dictionary on the ground that it contained British propaganda. More laughter will follow the news that the Hon. "Jerry" is still suffering from acute anti-Britishism, as indicated in the announcement that at his instance the city council has unanimously adopted an order calling upon the school committee to exclude from use in schools three books which are the objects of Mr. Watson's displeasure, but the Bostonians of the old type will grieve that this should have happened in Boston of all places and that the "Athens of America" should be subject in such a matter to the decree of a semi-educated political autocrat. It is stated that one of the condemned books was written by Albert Bushnell Hart, historian and Harvard professor, and that another is Burke's "Speech of Conciliation with the Colonies," the objection in the latter case presumably being raised against the introduction of the notes for the book itself is an eloquent Irishman's criticism of British policy in regard to the American Colonies.

This episode, ludicrous though it be, is another significant reminder of this country's lack of an independent and generally inclusive national consciousness. We do indeed have an "old American" element of large proportions which is not lacking in such consciousness, which would like America to speak for itself without the aid of anybody's spreadeagles, which is tired of the sophomoric platitudes of the past, and is willing for the old conflicts with Great Britain to be discussed purely upon their merits; but in the very nature of things this element is less assertive and noisy than some of the newer ones. Among these latter are the Irish-Americans who would have the lion's tail twisted on every page of history as well as in every political speech, German-Americans who would have American history written and American and American political policy dictated according to German views or interest, and so on through the long list of hyphenates who have become or have been born Americans largely as a commercial investment and are still inspired by old-country enthusiasms, hates and politics.

To many of us this seems raw, ridiculous, not to say childish, but if we are quite frank we shall have to admit that even in the larger "old American" element we can find its counterpart or resemblance in a stubborn partisanship bringing greater devotion to political party interests than to truly national interests, party leaders not hesitating to cater to the European prejudices of the hyphenates in order to obtain their support. In America a homogeneity of collective or national spirit is still delayed by party strife and attitude as well as by numerous hyphenate groups which in the matter of politics are still dominated by prejudices of European origin.

Appeal from the United States Supreme Court to the International Court of Justice at The Hague, in the event of an adverse decision on the foreign ship liquor question, is said to be contemplated by the French line, although by that time the French government is likely to take the matter up. It is certainly reasonable, however, to propose to submit to an international court what is unquestionably an international question.

What do you want to know about Nature Subjects? Send any questions of general interest to the Nature Notes Department of this paper, enclosing stamped envelope for reply.

Can You Answer These Questions?

1. Are young raccoons born blind?
2. Can any plants but sun-dew catch insects?
3. How can you tell a red-head duck from a canvasback? Aren't the colors alike?

Answer in Tomorrow's Nature Notes.

Answers To Previous Questions.

1. Will the Baltimore oriole fight other birds?

On occasions. The female is a devoted mother and will defend her nest with spirit. Orioles fight kingbirds now and then, in spite of the pugnacity of the latter. The Oriole has a strong, sharp bill which makes a good weapon. Instances have been known where orioles have attacked other birds' nests, but the supposition is less for a fight than for coveted materials.

2. Do all fishes have bones?

The group called teleosts—which covers most of the common fishes—have bone skeletons, and get their name from this fact, teleost meaning "perfect bone." But there is a very ancient group, Elasmobranchii, to which sharks, rays, skates, etc., belong, whose internal skeleton is mostly cartilage, though it may show some calcareous (limy) deposit.

3. What is the real name of the Hawaiian plant called Silver-Sword? Is it true it only grows there?

Botanically called Argropyrum, locally, ahinahina. Blooms July to September. Grows 7,000-12,000 feet above sea level. Claimed as unique in the soil of craters of Hawaiian volcanoes. Mr. Burroughs gives a description of this plant in Time and Change, remarking that if the soil of one crater could produce the plant, its evolution would be likely to be similar in other similar situations. Perhaps some traveler will find it in some other South Sea location.

KINGSTON AGAIN DEFEATS ALBANY

Winning Its Fifth Straight Game—Artus Wins Scoring Honors—Contest Is Interesting, Rough and Fast.

Morgenweck's salary again showed their superiority over the Albany State League aggregation on the armory court Wednesday evening, when they defeated them by a 27 to 13 score, before the largest attendance of the season, 1,400 were in attendance. The contest had its rough edges and sadding and riding on the part of the up-staters was very frequently in evidence. Borgeman seemed to be the best to saddle, as not only his opponent, Honey Russell but the whole team enjoyed themselves. Of course Borgeman was not given much of a chance to shoot from the floor and consequently his scoring was light. The Hepinstall crew from all appearances thought if they could keep Borgeman from tallying, all would be peaches. But they were mistaken as Artus was allowed to set and the result was four baskets from the floor and one from the chalk line, making nine points and getting the scoring honors for the evening. A. Powers played the other forward position his brother Charlie changing places with him to oppose Barney Sedran. Besides holding Sedran to six markers Charlie scored seven points. Artus' work on the defensive was of the highest order. Knoblauch played his usual good game at the center position. After a few minutes of play starting the game, by a few clever passes Knoblauch walked right up and caged an easy field goal. Before the struggle ended he caged another from the playground. For the final four minutes of play M. Husta replaced Borgeman at the front.

Kingston allowed the up-staters but three field baskets, two by Sedran and one by Russell. They also made seven fouls good out of sixteen. This is a very good knowing on the part of the local ball bouncers as Albany is second high team in the scoring list and three of the players are on the top of the individual scoring record. Manager Hepinstall was in the line-up, playing in front. The manager is an all round athlete, having played here with the Albany Bonackers. Eddie Mathews, the hard hitting second baseman of the Schenectady K. of C. also well known here, jumped center. Ricorda was present and in uniform but much to the regret of all, injuries kept him out of the game.

During the first half both teams were up and tuck and at the stage of the struggle the score was seven all. From this point on which was about the end of the first quarter the local quintet lead. When the first half ended Kingston headed a 11 to 8 tally. Kingston had four fields and three out of eight from the complimentary Albany had two fields and four out of six from the fifteen foot line. His majesty, Referee Meehan missed occasional line plunges and tackles and the foul shooting was light. This also had a tendency to increase the swiftness of the struggle. Both teams were glad when the period ended as every player experienced twenty minutes of real work.

The second half opened with the teams changing baskets. Albany was the weaker for during this closing session they were allowed to chalk but five points, a field basket by Sedran and three fouls. In the closing stanza the local players did better from the scoring standpoint, caging seven from the playground and two from the free gift line. The excellent team work, which speaks well for Manager Morgenweck, played the important part. At no time were the local players lost for a place to throw the ball and by their alertness completed almost every one. Again the pass work was exceptionally clever. The game wound up with the final accounting Kingston 27, Albany 13.

This is the second time the much heralded Senators fell before the Morgenweck clan and if the good work keeps up Kingston can boast about a marvelous representative basketball team. The large crowd was very enthusiastic and there was constant tremendous cheering during the contest. During the second half Referee Meehan called ten fouls on Kingston and eight on Albany, making the total committed by both teams 16 all. The usual good dancing was enjoyed following the game, a large number taking advantage of the splendid music rendered by the Ballo orchestra.

The score:

Kingston	FG	FP	TP
Borgeman, rf	1	3	5
A. Powers, lf	1	0	2
Knoblauch, c	2	0	4
Artus, lg	4	1	9

RAIN MACFADDEN AS SUB FOR VOGT

Coach Herman of the local football squad put his charges through practice session Tuesday regardless of the rather damp conditions prevailing on the Athletic field. The Kingston mentor is no stone turned in his efforts to get the team in shape for game with Newburgh on Saturday. MacFadden, who, regularly ended on the local team, is being groomed as a substitute quarterback. The local team is in the best shape and will start the game Monday with all the regulars in line up. They confidently expect a victory and will do everything in their power to make it a reality as they do not want to let the Hudson Valley season without one victory chalked to their credit.

SLAVE TO TRAVELING MANIA

One of the Stanchest Monarchist Papers Gives Space to a Sensational Article Obviously From an Authoritative Source—Says If William Had Been Born a Laborer He Might Have Perished as a Tramp—Worries Other Crowned Heads.

Significant indeed are the signs of the times when the most resolute of junkies and most loyal of monarchists seriously and publicly discuss the question of William von Hohenzollern's sanity. For many years, indeed ever since early in his reign, opponents have impugned his sanity. They have recalled the acknowledged strain of insanity which showed itself in former generations of his family, and have also stressed the well-known fact that for nearly all his life he has suffered from a chronic and most severe affection of the ear, which might readily involve a lesion of the brain. But now it is not his foes but his friends who are saying these things.

The most sensational of such utterances appears in that stanchest of monarchist papers, the "Berliner Staatsbürger Zeitung," which gives conspicuous place to a communication obviously from an important and authoritative source. In part it follows:

"A mere layman is generally quite incapable of detecting any mental derangement, or, if he does perceive it, of giving the sufferer suitable treatment. When, some twenty years ago, I visited an asylum for the insane in the Rhinish provinces, and was shown by the director through all his wards, I was so strangely affected that I actually began to doubt my own mental sanity, and finally asked if there really existed any mentally normal men. The director was open to conviction. It seemed as though he had expected my question or as though he himself had often thought of it. (Incidentally, ten years later he himself became insane.) He replied that perfectly normal men were in fact very rare. But to this circumstance he attached little importance. In the world there go about men who, though abnormal, are not suspected of insanity. Confined in the asylums are the patients who are dangerous to the community, though some of them may seem sane. That the violent insane are dangerous to the community needs no detailed explanation. Many patients need only the temporary care of an asylum."

The Ex-Kaiser's Mania. "The ex-kaiser suffers from psychopathic vagaries, or traveling mania. An internal unrest urges him to lead a vagrant life. Men afflicted with this disease are not capable of performing their duties in regulated work. Had William been born as a laborer he might have perished as a tramp. As a member of the middle class he could have become, under certain circumstances, a capable commercial traveler. His abnormality became dangerous for the community only through the circumstance that, in accordance with tradition and usage, he had to adopt the calling of his father and lead the destinies of a people of 60,000,000, which he was not able at all to do. That the thing went wrong was really not his fault, but the fault of the monarchial German constitution, which does not intrust the direction of the realm to the most capable but to the man designated by birth."

When the ex-kaiser fled to Holland his passion moved him to disregard safety with his big traveling automobile. Holland is a little country and the imperial car ran at a speed of 100 kilometers an hour, and the imperial horn signal sounding everywhere made the Hollanders nervous. The Dutch government thereupon, without a moment's hesitation, interned the kaiser in its Amerongen castle. The order for confinement was diplomatically made, for the alleged reason that only in this way could the Dutch government assure the kaiser's safety. The confinement to the premises of the castle was for the patient the hardest blow of his life. Since then he has spent a great part of the day roaming about in the wood and in the meadows, or reading books of travel so as to procure for himself a substitute for his passion.

Nut on Traveling. Traveling was to such a degree a fixed idea of the kaiser that when affairs of state or the fact that there was no one to be visited, made traveling impossible to him he sometimes passed a night in his parlor car, which stood in the railroad preserve, only five minutes from his new palace, under the pretext that he had to be in Berlin at an impossible hour the next morning. At the beginning of the summer of 1920 he indulged in this strange pastime until one evening in June the express found the carriage, when he was about driving to the station, to threaten that she would visit him in his bachelor abode. William then for several months abandoned this habit, and this was fortunate because a conspiracy threatened to break out among the domestics, who did not care to sleep so often in their clothes. They threatened to inform members of the left in the Reichstag about his majesty's wandering and tell them that the entire railway traffic was much deranged when his majesty passed the night in the station.

"More than a hundred officials and workmen are awake tonight owing to the kaiser's caprice of sleeping in his car," Count Eulenberg said to me one evening.

"Impossible! A hundred persons? A hundred and more—the list has passed through my hands. Just consider for a moment the work: freight trains have to be shifted on a siding and passenger trains have to run slower, as the usual signals, the whistle of the locomotives and the ringing of the bells, are not allowed. The number of employees has to be doubled in order to prevent accidents."

"The first imperial travels were to St. Petersburg, Vienna, Copenhagen, London. In Copenhagen the emperor declared that he liked it there so much that he would return every summer. The Danish king almost fell from his chair. If one considers that Denmark is but a small country and that the king of this minor state has only limited means at his disposal, one will understand his dismay. In consideration of the Danish poverty the czar, whenever he visited his father-in-law, paid liberally the cost incurred by him and his retinue. The German emperor, however, whose retinue consisted of 60 heads, never spoke of money. He rather asked military parades, warship salutes, gala operas, banquets and the like. No wonder that a panic broke out when the puffed-up Berliners announced themselves. Subsequently, whenever the kaiser proposed a visit to Copenhagen the Danish ambassador in Berlin was directed to call attention to the sickness of the queen, who needed rest, and ask that the visit should be postponed."

"Czar Alexander was more outspoken in his refusal of William's visits. He, to be sure, had no reason to fear that the Berliners would eat him poor and bare, as at the court of Copenhagen, nor could he allege as an excuse that the czarina was not strong enough to stand the excitement of such visits. The czar simply wrote to his Berlin ambassador that he refused to be disturbed in his retirement by that young man of Berlin. When Bismarck during a discussion smuggled this letter into the kaiser's hands William grew pale after perusing it."

The appearance of this astonishing publication in one of the strongest Prussian monarchial organs has aroused speculation upon its possible connection with the forthcoming second marriage of the ex-kaiser, to which most of his family, and especially his eldest son, the former crown prince, are known to be violently opposed. There is even gossip that a Hohenzollern family council may declare the ex-kaiser non compos mentis, and therefore incapable of retaining the throne, whereupon the succession would pass to the crown prince."

PAYS 40 CENTS A "CUSS"

Judge Invokes 1794 Blue Law and Man Pays $2.01 Fine.

It now costs 67 cents per violation for breaking the third commandment; common or garden variety of profanity is 40 cents a cuss at Patterson, Pa. Squire March, in trying Tom Burns for swearing at Miss Alice Jackson, unearthed the following blue law passed in 1794:

"If any person of the age of sixteen years or upward shall profane, curse or swear by the name of God, Jesus Christ, or the Holy Ghost, every person so offending shall pay the sum of 67 cents for each profane, curse or oath. Persons swearing by other names than the aforementioned shall pay 40 cents for each curse word uttered."

After perusing this venerable ordinance and hearing what Burns is alleged to have said to Miss Jackson, the squire collected $2.01 from the offender.

BRAZILIANS TAKE UP RADIO

Powerful Broadcasting Station at Rio Janeiro.

The radiophone craze, while now becoming an old story in the United States and other countries, has just hit Rio Janeiro.

A powerful broadcasting station has been erected on the summit of Mount Corcovado, overlooking the city, and besides the government buildings many commercial and private houses are being outfitted with receiving sets with which to "listen in" on the daily programs of concerts, news reports and lectures.

Other cities in the vicinity also are picking up the report, which has been heard as far as Sao Paulo. This is believed to be the first big broadcasting station to begin operation in South America.

BEE TREE HUNTING

Hundreds of Unemployed Have Sought Forest and Got Profit.

The quest of wild honey has enticed hundreds of unemployed into the Snoqualmie National forest in Washington, and men are reported to be able to locate two to three bee trees every day.

The bees prefer to live up in a tall hollow cedar, but are also found in other kinds where lightning or natural deformities have caused cracks or crevices. The bees are not wild in reality, but are derelict swarms breaking away from domesticated colonies. The amount of honey found in some trees is prodigious.

A big cedar opened up near Baring one day revealed a column of beeswax ten feet long and from ten inches to two feet thick. Nearly five tubs of comb-honey was removed and strained.

Harvester for Sugar Beets

Harvesting sugar beets has been facilitated by the invention of an Illinois man, and consists of a machine that tops, digs and boxes the product, according to the October Popular Mechanics Magazine. In operation, two shoes slide along the surface of the ground and carry a cutter which cuts the beet top at the required height, throwing the severed portion to one side. Following the topper, comes a digger, or uprooter, which removes the beet from the ground and carries it to the rear, where it is deposited in a box or basket.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THE PUZZLED TRAIN

"I cannot understand it," said the Engine to the Coal Car, and one of the Passenger Cars.

They were waiting to go on another journey, but for the time being, they were resting.

"It seems so ridiculous to me," said the Engine. "Now I heard the conductor just as plainly as plainly could be when he called outside the train, just as he had said, All Aboard."

"This train only makes one stop," "Yes," said the Passenger Car, "he came inside and said that, too."

"He said it and he must have meant what he was saying," the Engine continued, "and yet it is very, very puzzling, for we made many more stops than that."

"It wasn't my fault. I was supposed to stop more than once. I don't know why, but I was supposed to, and so I did. I try to be a good, obedient Engine."

"Ha, ha," laughed the Coal Car, "That sounds funny."

"But isn't it the truth?" asked the Engine.

"Quite true," said the Passenger Car, "don't let the Coal Car tease you."

"Yes," continued the Engine, "I was told to stop at all these other places."

"First of all, I stopped outside the city limits. I was sorry I had to do that, because I believe we didn't wait for a train from the West which we were supposed to connect with. If we'd waited in the station as long as we did outside the city limits (for no reason at all that I could make out) those passengers could have caught the train."

"Then we waited for a long time for another train to pass us by."

"That was only safe and wise and sensible for I would not have cared to have bumped into that other train."

"I should say I wouldn't have cared to be jolted, either," said the Coal Car. "No more would I have cared for it," agreed the Passenger Coach.

"But still," the Engine went on, "that was another stop. An important one, a necessary one, but still it was another stop. And it wasn't the stop the conductor had called out, for that was a town we stopped at half-way on our journey."

"Then we stopped by a red barn. Why, I don't know. We stopped by a deserted farmhouse, too. We stopped by an old woodshed, and we stopped near a field of corn."

"We stayed for a long time by a vegetable patch and yet we hadn't stopped for vegetables."

"We stopped by a windmill, and we stopped by an apple orchard. We stopped by a junction which wasn't supposed to be one of our stops."

"We stopped by some crocustracks, and we stopped by a hop field."

"We stopped by an old stump, and we stopped by some woods."

"In fact, we made fully a dozen or more stops which the conductor hadn't mentioned."

"Do you suppose he could have forgotten them?" asked the Coal Car.

"Perhaps that does explain it," said the Passenger Car.

"It is certainly very, very puzzling. He should have called out all those other stops, and as we came near the red barn where we stopped, he should have shouted:

"The next stop is a Red Barn. Next stop—Red Barn."

"That would have been much better," said the Engine. "Much better."

"Much better," agreed the Coal Car. "But it is still very, very puzzling," said the Engine. "Certainly our lives are exciting. We dash through the country and then we stop at unexpected places."

"Truly there is nothing dull about being an Engine."

"Nor about being a Coal Car," the Coal Car said.

"Nor about being a Passenger Car, and seeing all the different people, and their bundles," said the Passenger Car.

ECONOMICAL MEAT DISHES

A shin bone of beef is most often served as a soup, but the following dish is worth a trial:

Shin Bone of Beef With Creole Sauce.—Take three or four pounds of the shin bone, one onion sliced, one carrot sliced, two cupsful of tomato, one green pepper chopped, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of celery salt, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of paprika, and one teaspoonful of salt. The meat is dredged with flour, seared in hot fat and the other ingredients added. The heat is lowered and the meat is cooked until tender. Serve on a platter with gravy.

A covered iron kettle is the most desirable utensil for long, slow cooking; better than the casserole, as the kettle holds the heat at a higher temperature, keeping in all the flavors and juices.

Savory Beef.—Take three pounds of the shin of beef, three large onions sliced, one teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of pepper, one tablespoonful of catsup, one-fourth of a teaspoonful each of ground cloves, thyme or summer savory, one pint of brown stock, two tablespoonfuls of vinegar. Brown the onions in the marrow fat. Cut the meat from the bone and dredge with flour. Prepare the stock by cooking the bone in water for a time then adding bone and all to the kettle with the other ingredients and simmer until the meat is tender.

Shin of Beef With Sauce.—Bone the meat, roll in seasoned flour and seal well. Add a pint of water and simmer until tender. Serve with the following sauce: One chopped onion and carrot browned in some of the marrow fat, a few sprigs of parsley, one-half cupful of diced celery, one cupful of tomato and salt and paprika to taste.

Shin of Beef With Sauce.—Bone the meat, roll in seasoned flour and seal well. Add a pint of water and simmer until tender. Serve with the following sauce: One chopped onion and carrot browned in some of the marrow fat, a few sprigs of parsley, one-half cupful of diced celery, one cupful of tomato and salt and paprika to taste.

Do They Turn It Off?

A little girl from Indianapolis with two older sisters visited Niagara Falls. After watching the volume of water pour over the American side of the falls several minutes she inquired: "Do they turn it off at night?"
 The girl probably had in mind the water at the Indiana Soldiers and Sailors monument at Indianapolis, which pours over the stone work
 there and is turned off late each night.

Friday, November 3rd, was Auxiliary Club day, and from 2:30 until 5:30, there was a great deal of business transacted. The devotional exercises of the afternoon were conducted by Mrs. Foster A. Coons. Mrs. R. H. Decker expressed her pleasure and appreciation at the large attendance, and gave a hearty welcome to all. Everyone enjoyed the business and social affairs and it will long be remembered as one of the most pleasant in the history of the club. The hostesses in receiving line were: Mrs. Jacob Schuchle, Mrs. Louis Martin, Mrs. Elton Tompkins and Mrs. J. R. Wood. They proved themselves ideal. The members will give a chicken supper on the evening of November 24th in the M. E. Church parlor, so one of the members reported. This will take on a Thanksgiving atmosphere. Everything was enjoyable and encouraging, and unbounded hospitality prevailed. The entire delegation will have pleasant recollection of the November meeting. There was one new member admitted, Mrs. Wadlin. When the social was announced the hostesses served a menu that every member appreciated, and all expressed their pleasure to them as they left for their homes wishing for them to act as hostesses in the near future, for everything was such a success.

Mrs. George Brown entertained friends at her home Tuesday evening. We presume they waited late to hear election returns.

THEY SURELY ARE WONDERFUL LITTLE WORKERS—

FREEMAN ONE-CENT-A-WORD "WANT" ADLETS

MEXICO'S POTENTIAL WEALTH

Country's Resources, Known to Be Great, Are to Be Subject of Thorough Investigation.

In the state of Oaxaca, Mexico, a wild plant is found growing, the leaves of which have long been used in the manufacture of a beverage known as the "agua de la vida." Some years ago the manufacture of a better compound of these leaves was carried on successfully, but the turbulent times caused the industry to be abandoned. It has been proposed that Mexico, instead of shipping its hides to the United States to be tanned and manufactured into leather, shall utilize the hides of its cattle and other animals at home. At present the leather industry is mostly carried on by crude processes of tanning and manufacturing, notwithstanding the fact that there exists in the country an inexhaustible supply of wild vegetation from which tannic acid for the manufacture of leather may be obtained at low cost. It is to obtain some definite idea of the resources of Mexico in the matter of wild plants and shrubs and the products of forest trees, that the government now has under consideration plans for a careful and thorough survey of these native products of the soil. In connection with this investigation a laboratory will be established where chemical analysis of specimens of plant life may be made with the view of discovering whether or not they may be made of commercial value.

"THE GLORY OF SURPLUS SERVICE"

Topic Taken by the Rev. Mr. Boeve in His Address to Kingston High School Students Wednesday at Chapel Exercises.

Wednesday morning the chapel exercises at the high school were made very interesting by a talk by the Rev. Mr. Boeve, pastor of the First Reformed Church. Mr. Boeve announced his topic as "The Glory of Surplus Service." The topic is really that verse of the Gospel which says, "If a man compel you to go with him one mile, go with him two." The origin of this is a custom of Persia. When a message for the government had to be sent, the officials gave it to the first man who happened in their way and compelled him to bring the message as far as he could. The Romans adopted this custom, but it was their captives who had to do the relaying, the captives to whom the text was addressed being the Jews.

The text mentioned above gives us a command, yet more of a challenge, to do twice as much as is required of us. We are all under that Roman law as we are out of necessity under many other laws of ancient times. We soon will all be workers. There are two ways of facing our work, one to do the least possible, the other to do more than is required of us, treating our work like a friend. The Rev. Boeve cited a case of a man 70 years old who had made millions, and yet still continued to work because he was interested in his work. Another of a young boy who had to struggle for an education, who went to the city, worked in a trust company there, and studied. He was ever ready to help wherever needed, whether it was his job or not. A year after he went to the city the boy was drowned. At the funeral the president told Mr. Boeve, who had recommended the boy to him, that the young man was just about to be offered the position of paying teller, rising in the short time he was there above those who had been there many years, because he was one who ran on the two mile basis, while the other employees were the one mile runners.

Many homes are also run on a one mile basis. The happy homes are those where each is willing to do something more for the other than the laws of society demand.

There are three attitudes which boys may take upon entering high school or college. One is, "I have to go because my parents and the law compel me." Another is, "I ought to go because it is necessary." The other is, "I'm going because it is a life opportunity."

In the churches there are even people of the two classes. Some give all they can out of their own free will, others give enough so that they do not seem close alongside, the amount that someone else gave.

Everywhere there are the two limits, the one-mile rate and the two mile rate, doing only what is required and doing what is not required but what will help. The two-mile limit is the one that makes for the greatest happiness.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Smart Style for the Growing Girl. 3994. White linen embroidered with blue yaro is here shown. This style is good also for taffeta, crepe and gingham. Check and plain gingham used in combination will be pleasing.

The pattern is cut in 3 sizes: 12, 14, and 16 years. A 14 year size requires 3 1/2 yards of 22 inch material. A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Catalogue Notice.

For photographing the human voice and reproducing it, not as a picture, but as the sound of the voice itself, a new device, known as the Hoxie-Photophone, has been perfected by Charles A. Hoxie, of the General Electric Co., Schenectady, N. Y. It is believed the machine will make the talking-motion picture a reality.

Maine Cannot Grow Sugar Cane.

Maine is the only state in the union where sugar cane cannot be raised. It grows there only a few feet high and the sap is not sweet. If all our cane sugar had to be raised in Maine it would cost about a thousand dollars a pound. Maine corn, on the other hand, is the sweetest corn raised anywhere.

Liberty Before Theology.

Liberty and not theology is the enthusiasm of the present century. The very men who would once have been conspicuous saints are now conspicuous revolutionists; for while their heroism and disinterestedness are their own, the direction which these qualities have taken is determined by the pressure of the age.—H. W. Lecky.

World's Largest Coin.

Probably the largest coin in the world is the property of Farron Burke, internationally famous expert on rare coins. It is a piece of stamped copper plate, 10 inches square, and weighs six and a half pounds. It has a value of four daler. The daler was a coin of varying value used in Sweden around the year 1730.

No Harm in Skipping a Meal.

Almost anyone can fast a fortnight with no bad effects except losing weight and becoming weak. The body has stored up in it a big supply of reserve fuel. When "feeling punk," skip a meal and fall back on your reserve energy. Overeating, insufficient exercise and lack of sleep cause most bad health.—Exchange.

the regular folks, whose story was so human and interesting that New York had to hear it retold 443 times on the stage. You can meet them by seeing the picture that's even greater than the great play—

ELSIE:

Who couldn't forget Joe; and Joe, who hoped for her sake she would.

MA BASCOM:

A mother of the sort that makes the name mean so much.

DEACON TILLINGER:

Like a green peach, was hard, and he either might ripen or turn bad.

MUGGS:

As deft with his tongue as with his fingers.

SAMMY MARTIN:

No city slicker would put anything over on HIM. No, Sir-ee!

GILLY:

Never mind the last name—made the word safe, a sarcasm.

Famous Dancer Tells How to End Foot-Burn and Corn-Misery

—Quickly, Without Plasters, Pads, Powders or Medicated Baths!

Walter Baker, famous and popular instructor of stage-dancers, says: "Having instructed most of our celebrated stage dancers, and knowing much about 'foot misery', I do not hesitate to say that Oxy Foot Relief stands in a class by itself when it comes to giving sore, smarting, itching, swollen feet or blisters without pain or bother!"

NOTE—Oxy Foot Relief, recommended by Dr. Baker, is a soft, velvety, non-irritating cream, which, when rubbed into the soles of your shoes and rubs it on a sore, burning, itching, swollen spot, goes to work in three minutes and relieves the pain, itching, swelling, and burning. It is the only remedy that will cure the most severe cases of foot misery without the use of any other medicine.
